5000 GUARDSMEN AT CAMP GRAYLING

UNDERGOING INTENSIVE PROGRAM OF TRAINING

Approximately 5000 troops of Michigan National Guard are now undergoing the most intensive training ever planned for a two-weeks summer encampment.

The training schedule includes tactical problems, target practice with rifles, machine guns and artillery, close order drill, lectures and special instructions for officers.

The 182d Field Artillery regiment under command of Col. H. A. Pickert, was the first complete regiment to reach camp and immediately started in to complete their preliminary problems. Today (Thursday) this regiment starts a two-day live-shell target practice. With field pieces set among the forests and hills on the west side of the lake, targets will be set in "Pleasant Valley," in Kalkaska county, about five miles distant. The firing ranges are worked out mathematically. In this they will be assisted by the 32d Division air squadron, under command of Major Evans. Reports of shots will be made by broadcasting from the airplanes. Next week the air service will work with the 119th Field Artillery.

Governors Review Next Sunday. Next Sunday will be Governor's review of the entire National Guard units. This usually begins at 2:00 p. m. Eastern Standard time. This is the big day in camp for the public and is an attraction that is attended by upwards of 50,000 people, many coming from remote regions of the state.

Next Monday all units except the 182d Field Artillery which trains for home that night, will march into the heart of the big military reservation, go into position, bivouac for the night and attack the "enemy" the following morning. This will be the culmination of the war training, a vigorous assignment that will recompense the guardsmen for the exciting routine they have been thru.

The weather thus far has been ideal. Every one in camp seems to be enjoying the training and the pleasures afforded by the fine lake. Nearly all enjoy the swimming; some fish bass and pike and some enjoy the wildernesses that surround the west and north sides. Baseball, wrestling and boxing matches, motion pictures, mock trials and pranks of wide diversion are daily enjoyed by the young men in camp. And the many fine military bands of the camp inspire all with their music. And the latter are always liberal and willing to come to town to entertain those who are not able to hear them at the camp. And other towns—Roscommon, Frederic and Gaylord are treated to fine band concerts by these bands. Last night the 107th Medical Regiment band played a concert and furnished music for a pavement dance in Grayling. A more detailed account of this fine band, which for the fifth consecutive time has captured first place amongst the bands attending this annual encampment, appears elsewhere in this edition of the Avalanche.

The people of Grayling are appreciative of the concerts so generously provided by the military bands, and in their behalf we wish to extend the most cordial thanks of the entire community.

WHO IS GOING TO BE MISS GRAYLING

Officials of the first annual Eastern Michigan Water Carnival, to be held at Bay City August 22, 23 and 24, are desirous of finding out, so that this young lady, whoever she may be, can enjoy three days at the carnival without expense and compete for the honor of being named queen of the carnival.

Voting coupons on which patrons of the Rialto theatre can write in their choice for Miss Grayling will be sent to the theatre this week so the contest can get under way at once. It will continue until August 15, when the girl having the largest number of votes to her credit will be named Miss Grayling.

The following week she will be sent to Bay City and on August 22 will compete with the other girls from the various towns in the community in an effort to be named queen of the carnival. A three-day round of pleasure will follow.

The carnival will open on August 22 with a mammoth street parade of beautifully decorated and novel floats, including several from towns outside of Bay City, and will end with a water pageant which will see every available boat of any description in a beautiful water parade on Saginaw river, with the queen presiding over it all.

T. W. Hanson, president of the Grayling Chamber of Commerce, has named a local committee to have charge of arrangements for the carnival in this city. Besides himself the committee consists of A. J. Joseph, T. P. Peterson, Fred Welsh, Chris Olsen, C. J. McNamara, Carl W. Peterson, O. P. Schumann, Dr. C. R. Keyport and George Olson.

Among the young ladies who have already entered in the local beauty contest are Miss Virginia Hanson, and the Misses Margrethe and Ella Hanson. Others are expected to enter within the next few days and voting promises to be keen until the end of the contest on August 15.

SAGINAW MERCHANTS EXTEND THANKS

The following is a letter received by the secretary of our Board of Trade:

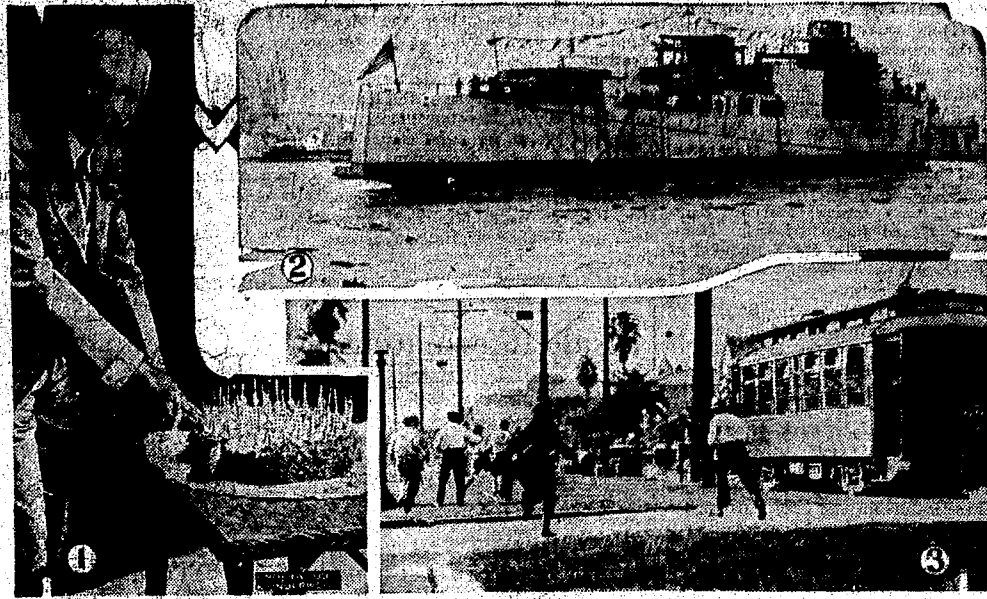

Mr. A. J. Joseph, Sec.
Board of Trade,
Grayling, Michigan.

Dear Sir:
The board of directors of the Wholesale Merchants bureau wish me to extend to you their thanks for the cooperation you gave us in arranging for the meeting in your city. The party was more than pleased with their reception and we trust that the local merchants enjoyed our visit.

We will certainly plan to stop in to see you again in two years from now.

Yours very truly,
W. A. RORKE, Sec.

MUCH TESTIMONY IN WOOD CASE

The will case of Mary J. Wood, appealed from probate court that is being tried here in circuit court before Judge Guy E. Smith, with Wm. F. Austin et al, contestants and Albert B. Lincoln, proponent closed their testimony for the appellants Tuesday after more than a week of trial. Testimony for the proponent began Wednesday. Attorneys for both sides believe the case will require another week in court.

Mary J. Wood was the wife of William E. Wood of Wm. E. Wood Construction Company Detroit and left an estate of about seven hundred fifty thousand dollars. One will of Mrs. Wood was found in her private deposit box at People's State Bank Detroit and filed in probate court here. This left an annuity of $300 a month to her brother Albert B. Lincoln, and Mrs. Huston of Rochester, Mich., $100 per month and the remainder of her property to Wm. F. Austin, Henry Brennan and Leo Richardson, members of the firm of Wm. E. Wood Construction Co., and some personal property to Mr. Brennan's wife.

This was filed in probate court of Crawford county. Later Albert B. Lincoln the proponent in the case filed a will which he claimed was a later and the last will of Mrs. Wood. This will bequeathed all the property to Mr. Lincoln and his sister Mrs. Huston.

Mrs. Wood died in California Sept. 30, 1928. Mr. Lincoln petitioned the court to appoint Wm. F. Austin, secretary-treasurer of the Wm. E. Wood Construction Co., special administrator for the purpose, he says, of permitting the contents of Mrs. Wood's private deposit box in the People's State Bank in Detroit to be examined. Later, October 27th, Mr. Lincoln deposited the will that is now being contested and which the appellants claim is a forgery.

The trial has been a long, drawn out one in which 184 letters and manuscripts have been received in evidence.

The appellants are represented by the law firm of Stevenson, Butzel, Eaman & Long, and David Crowley of Monahan & Crowley, all of Detroit. The proponents have retained Lodge & Brown, also of Detroit, as their attorneys.

Principal among the witnesses to appear for the appellants were a number of handwriting experts—Albert S. Osborn and Elbridge W. Stein of New York and Francis B. Courtney and J. E. Murphy of Detroit. All of these witnesses claim that the so-called last will and testament is a forgery.

In the private deposit box of Mrs. Wood was found a letter addressed to Wm. F. Austin directing him as to the funeral arrangements she desired at her death. The funeral was conducted from the Austin home.

Thus far nothing has developed as to where the contested will was found. It is claimed by a Mrs. Paul of Detroit that Mrs. Wood had, on August 23rd last, just before leaving for California, where she died September 30th, asked her and her mother to come to her rooms at the Leland hotel in Detroit, when she requested that she write her will at her (Mrs. Wood's) dictation. Mrs. Paul states that she did this and that she and her mother, Mrs. Bennett Brown, signed as witnesses. This will, as before explained, left all to Mr. Lincoln and Mrs. Huston, Mrs. Wood's brother and sister.

Witnesses for the Lincoln side are now having their day in court and will endeavor to prove the validity of the last filed will.

HERE COMES ARABELLA JULY 23-24

The rehearsing for "Here Comes Arabella" a musical comedy which is being presented by the Woman's Club is well under way. Appointments for the various members of the cast were completed Monday and strenuous practicing begun. The spirit and enthusiasm shown by the actors for their parts give assurance that the play will go over with plenty of snap.

Arthur Sutton of Higgins Lake has been chosen as leading man. He is a young man experienced in dramatics who made a name for himself in the Michigan opera and plays the role of Bob Adair superbly. Arabella, the charming gypsy lady who wins Bob without any effort but against strenuous competition is Virginia Hanson. Virginia is well known here and played the lead in "Quality St." presented by the Latin School Chicago. It goes without saying that she is handling her part beautifully. These stars are supported by Bob Montague of Higgins Lake, who plays Bob's roommate a student playwright, Kristine Salling and Eleanor Schumann who are the old maid aunts, Charles Wylie as Uncle Josh, Margrethe Hanson, Ella Hanson, and Norma Pochelon who are flappers, Will Pochelon and Julius Pochelon, friends of Bob's and Dorothy May, Marie Schmidt and Emma Louise Pochelon members of the Ladies Aid.

The theme in "Here Comes Arabella" is rather unusual as it isn't the flapper with all her pep and daring who wins out but rather the shy, sincere little gypsy girl, who goes straight to the heart of all with whom she comes in contact. But what difficulties they have with the mysterious "Robin Redbreast" always in the background demanding Arabella's love. However it ends, as all good plays do, with everyone living happily ever after.

PARTY OF FIVE LOST IN WOODS

Narrowly escaping death from exposure and severely bruised, five early arrivals at Camp Grayling were rescued early Friday morning after their horses had carried them almost twenty miles into the pine woods north of the military reservation. Lieutenant and Mrs. George Kelly, Flint; Mrs. F. T. Burt, Lansing and Miss Elizabeth Croshaw of Lansing, the unfortunate group, are still suffering from their experience.

Leaving camp for a moonlight horseback ride, at about 8 o'clock in the evening, they became hopelessly lost and spent the following seven hours trying to find their way out of the dense pine growth. Search parties recruited from the camp were, in the meantime, scouring the country for miles around and finally located the riders near a fire which they had built to attract attention.

The heroes in the affair were Captain L. A. McKenny, of Detroit, and 1st Lieut. William H. Crampton, also of Detroit. These officers, both of whom are rather widely known as nature students, were taking flash-light photographs of small wild animals when the alarm was spread and searched for 14 hours without rest.

WARNING

Anyone caught taking ice or trespassing on my icehouse property will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law.

The last party who helped himself, left his ice tongs and took mine instead, and it would be appreciated if they were returned.

EMIL NIEDERER.

AVIATION SQUADRON ARRIVED SATURDAY

With a personnel of nearly 100 men and officers the 32d Aviation Squadron of airplanes arrived at Grayling Airport Saturday afternoon, under command of Major Floyd E. Evans. In the squadron were two PT-1 planes and two Douglas observation planes and on Tuesday the third Douglas observation plane arrived direct from the factory in Los Angeles.

While here the squadron will do a lot of photographic work and also work with the artillery at Camp Grayling spotting shots and signaling the results of the shots.

Grayling Airport has been greatly enlarged since last season and telephone and electric poles have been removed and lowered and now the field is large enough to land any army plane now in existence.

Major Floyd E. Evans, commander observation squadron.
Capt. Nowicki, commander medical attachment.

Capt. Howard M. Emhoff.
Capt. Leon M. Lindse.
Capt. A. C. Mensch.
Capt. C. Squire.
Capt. Frederick R. Anderson.
1st Lieut. Andrew H. Coleman.
1st Lieut. James P. O'Neil.
1st Lieut. Raymond C. DesAutels.
1st Lieut. Walter C. Nicol.
2nd Lieut. John C. Walsh.
2nd Lieut. Clinton E. Searle.

Sergt. Barr states that next Sunday after the general review at Camp Grayling there probably will be an exhibition of parachute drops.

Pilots are busy putting in the required hours of flying. Before camp is over each of the 13 pilots will have spent 20 hours in the air. Lieut. James Kalec, commanding the photographic section, and his men plan to map the military reservation from the air.

A club house, an operations building and a storehouse are being built at the air service camp with lumber from abandoned buildings at River Rouge Park. With the growth of the air service to 91 men and 15 officers, and the enlarging of its material, the newest branch of the Michigan National Guard has within a few years become an outstanding unit.

Wednesday morning ten Curtis planes and one Douglas bombing plane from Selfridge field, under command of Captain Strahm, arrived at the airport. It was an inspiring sight to see these planes flying in formation sets of threes, and the roar of their motors as they flew low over town made everyone who could, get out and look.

At almost any time planes may be seen in the air going thru the most thrilling and dare-devil stunts. With motor cut off sometimes the planes start down in tailspins and other times fall gracefully much as a light maple leaf may fall thru open space. Of course the plane is righted at the proper time to avoid a crash.

Rube Babbitt accompanied us to the airport Wednesday morning and told of a time when he went up in a plane and the pilot gave him all he knew how to give. "Gosh," said Mr. Babbitt, "I thot sometimes that my guts would burst right out of my ears. I was never so sick in all my life. I told the pilot, after he cut off his motor, preparatory to land, that I was sick and he replied 'you don't look very well.' He was having more fun about my experience than I was."

One cup of rice will absorb 3 or 4 cups of milk when cooked. In the double boiler and is of course much richer in food value than when boiled in water.

MEDICAL REGT. GIVES FINE CONCERT

ONE OF GUARDS' BEST MUSICAL ORGANIZATIONS

The 107th Medical Regiment Band of the Michigan National Guard is in camp again this year with a finer band than ever. This organization under its popular young leader, Warrent Officer Laurie Heathcote, has for the fifth successive encampment again taken first place amongst the bands attending the annual encampment.

The twenty-three piece instrumentation of this band might be of interest to local musicians. The reed section carries six clarinets and one piccolo and flute with the brasses covering four trumpets, three mellophones, two baritones, two trombones and two basses. The percussion section claims one bass drummer, two snare drummers with bells and xylophones. Staff Sergeant Art Clarke, the amiable assistant band leader has been with the band since its organization five years ago.

Besides being a fine concert ensemble this band has the reputation of standing alone in its providing varied entertainment for the troops' welfare. This year's special features include Bob Brown and Herb Atkins, trumpeters extraordinary, Hal Dittmansen, versatile trombonist, Ot Moyer with his stories of the South African deserts, Jack Cheney, clever

On Wednesday evening the band came into town and treated our good citizens to a concert after which followed a pavement dance. This was the first pavement dance ever recorded in the history of Grayling and it is hoped that it can be made an annual affair.

On Friday evening, July 19th, the boys are playing and entertaining at the annual dance of the 107th Medics at the High School Auditorium and a special invitation is extended to the ladies of the community to be present without any admission fee. There will be many novelties presented and a fine time is assured all those who attend.

On Monday evening next a concert and street dance will be held at Grayling when it is hoped that many of their Grayling friends will attend and add to the enjoyment. The band is already booked for every evening during the encampment and on some of these evening dates have two engagements.

Summer Cottages built this way are cool and comfortable

In no other way can so much comfort be built into a summer home for so little money as with Celotex Insulating Lumber.

This remarkable lumber, made from the long, tough fibres of cane, does what no ordinary building materials can do. It practically stops heat. It shuts out wind and moisture.

The comfortable coolness of a cottage built with Celotex is a delightful surprise. And if you want to use your cottage late in the season, Celotex will keep it snug and warm.

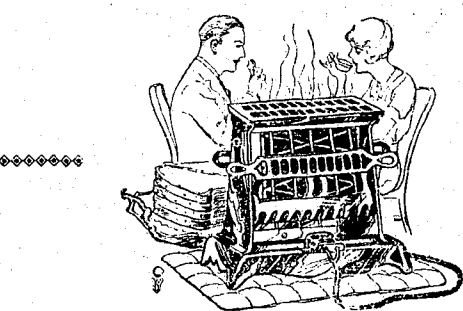

The cost of such a cottage is no more than the cost of one built with good lumber. Celotex is used for both exterior and interior finish. When painted, it will resist the weather quite as well as wood lumber. And it is much stronger in wall sections than wood. The broad, strong Celotex boards are easy to handle and apply. Sawed and nailed as wood lumber.

We sell and recommend Celotex. Ask us for sample and prices.

THURSDAY, JULY 18, 1929

IN THE death of Judge Grant Fellows, Justice of Michigan Supreme court, Tuesday, our state loses one of its most able jurists. Not only was Judge Fellows well informed in law and of sound, sensible judgment but he was also a man of fairness. He detested pettiness, bigotry and selfishness. While small in stature he was masterful as a lawyer and judge. As a speaker he swayed large audiences with his eloquence and logic, and was held in high esteem by his colleagues. At all times he was a power to be reckoned with. Yet notwithstanding his lofty position in life he always had time for his old home friends. It made no difference to Grant Fellows whether or not Farmer Jones wore his overalls when he called at his office in Lansing, Judge Fellows was always glad to see him, and he never forgot to inquire how the wife and family at home were. An unkindly word about any one of his friends, whether deserved or not, was always met with a frown, and petty gossip was unwelcome in his presence. He was generous and thoughtful. He was responsible for the success of a number of young men, some of whom are now well known today in Michigan. Judge Fellows was a liberal contributor to the churches and other institutions of his home city—Hudson, a town that he loved and where he was loved by almost everyone there. He was a citizen of whom the home town folk were proud to boast. His usefulness to his home community, his state and his country won for him friends who will hold his memory in reverence as long as they live.

SEVEN MISTAKES OF LIFE

1. The delusion that individual advancement is made by crushing others down.
2. The tendency to worry about things that cannot be changed or corrected.
3. Insisting that a thing is impossible because we ourselves cannot accomplish it.
4. Attempting to compel other persons to believe and live as we do.
5. Neglecting development and refinement of the mind by not acquiring the habit of reading fine literature.
6. Refusing to set aside trivial preferences in order that important things may be accomplished.
7. The failure to establish the habit of saving money.

Blackberry juice makes a very appetizing punch, combined with other fruit juices, lemon, and gingerale.

$5000 FIRE LOSS BAKERY & GARAGE

BROKE OUT 11:30 WED. NIGHT.
FIREMEN STOP SPREAD

What might have been a serious fire broke out in the building used as a garage by the Grayling Bakery at about 11:30 o'clock Wednesday night, completely destroying that structure and spread to the rear room of the Corwin Auto Sales garage.

Just how the conflagration started seems to be uncertain. The bakery delivery truck belonging to Mr. Craig, the proprietor, was in the bakery garage with the gas tank full and it is the belief that someone was robbing the tank. The car was totally consumed but for its metal parts and there seemed to have been no gas explosion which partly confirms that the gas had been removed.

The fire started almost in an instant for people passing by a few minutes before it was discovered saw no fire and this looks as tho it might have been a gasoline fire.

The fire raged furiously in just a few minutes and it looked as tho the main bakery building and the Corwin Auto Sales garage would be wiped out, and also other nearby structures including the Conley Economy store, the American Legion hall, Alexander office, Conville store, Peterson Jewelry store and Avalanche office. Fortunately there was no wind and the few sparks that were carried away were easily controlled. As it was the fire was confined to the place where it began and the Corwin garage. The latter place was damaged in the rear part, the interior of one side and the ceiling and roof being badly gutted. Their loss is estimated at about $2,000. The bakery loss it is believed will amount to around $1,000. Besides that the loss of their fine new Stewart enclosed delivery truck is about $2,000. The buildings and truck were insured sufficiently so that the owners will suffer no financial loss. The contents losses of the two places, on which there was no insurance, are small.

A lot of credit is deserved by the firemen. They handled the situation remarkably and are responsible for the prevention of the fire spread. When the fire broke out there were many people on the streets, as usual when the National Guard is in camp. The members of the 107th Medical regiment band who had played a concert in town that night were in the Board of Trade club rooms where they were enjoying a lunch as guests of the board and the village, were about the first on the job. A state policeman broke open the doors of the Corwin garage and with the help of the bandmen removed a large number of autos to safety. Among them were some new Hudson and Essex cars. Conspicuous among those helping the firemen were men in uniform from the camp and from Grayling Airport. At the time when it looked as tho that quarter of the town would be wiped out a call to the Military reservation brot in the fire apparatus from that place. They responded quickly and were ready for service but by that time the local department had the fire well under control.

RESERVE OFFICER WRITES ABOUT HIS COMPANY

To the newcomer, Camp Grayling is a pleasant surprise. The lake, with its wooded shores and the rolling terrain, furnish a beautiful setting for the tent city and is in marked contrast with the usual army camp. As reserve officers, some of us are particularly fortunate in being assigned to the 107th Ordnance Co. of Pontiac, commanded by Capt. Claude L. Allen.

This organization is unique in many ways. The casual visitor is immediately impressed with the appearance of the Company street, a miniature white way extends the entire length of the street, formed by a line of boulevard lights. On top of the mess hall is a large "neon" sign in colors in the form of a flaming bomb, the Ordnance insignia, with the Company number displayed in the bomb. A similar sign is at the lower end of the street, while on the back side of the mess hall and facing the squad tents is a large gilded clock, also in the form of a flaming bomb. The squad tents also have their special comforts. A rather ingenious framework takes the place of the usual center pole; a system of springs in the top of the tent automatically takes up any slack in the tent ropes. Electric lights with white globes to match the outside lights are provided. A rack containing the names of the occupants, in black print on a white background, stands before each tent.

Even the mess hall has its special comforts, as exemplified by an ice box large enough to hold a beef. Outside the mess hall is a drinking fountain and the water, instead of being chlorinated as customary, is boiled in a special apparatus by which the water, after boiling is led through the icebox for cooling, thus providing safe and palatable drinking water at all times.

The real significance, however, of these special features, lies in the spirit they reflect. One cannot help but be impressed by the spirit of co-operation and good will which exists in the company as between the officers and men and the evident desire of the men to do their utmost to make the all too brief period of camp a productive one. Captain Allen and Lt. Martin are to be congratulated.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Wolff and two children of South Bend, Indiana, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert W. Wolff at their cottage.

Local Happenings

Rev. Aage Moller of Ashland High School, Grant, Michigan, who was to have filled the pulpit at Danish Lutheran church next Sunday has postponed his date until a week later, and will be here on Sunday, July 28th. Therefore there will be no services in the church next Sunday, but Sunday school will be at the usual hour.

Misses Margrethe and Olga Nelson are entertaining a number of guests this week at a house party at their cottage Mar-Ol-To at Lake Margrethe. They include the Misses Margaret Hendricks of Grand Lodge, Janita Secord, East Jordan; Marion Estabrook, Grand Rapids; Louise Hainline, Dearborn; and Hazel Shankel of Alma. All were former teachers in Grayling schools.

The stage is all set for St. Mary's annual fair, with some of the attractions on the lawn at Mrs. Charles Tromble's home and others on the lot between the A. & P. Store and the 5c to 10c Store. At the home of Mrs. Tromble the fancy work, baby booth and fish pond, candy, baked goods, ice cream and pop booths will be arranged, and here also will be tables where ice cream and cake, sandwiches and coffee and other refreshments will be served all afternoon and evening. In connection with the attractions on main street will be a hot dog stand. In the fancy work booth may be found pillow slips, towels and aprons, all home made and of the best of materials. Baby things are always in vogue and the fish pond will make a hit with the kiddies. In the baked goods booth will be found home made pies, cakes and other things. Join the big crowd that always takes in St. Mary's fair.

ADOPT MODERN CULINARY ART

SCIENTIFIC MENUS PREPARED FOR 63d BRIGADE OFFICERS

The old story of distasteful and un-nutritious army food is now quite passe with the modern methods of choosing and planning the menus. The menus for the 63d Brigade Headquarters Mess during the summer encampment were carefully made out many weeks ahead of time. They were corrected and approved by the M. S. C. Home Ec. Dept. Taken into consideration were the type of man to whom they were to be served and the sort of work which he would be doing. For instance as most of the men are large they have cut out proteins to some extent. We find on certain days a substitute for the usually infallible potatoes. And thus they have arrived at a diet which should be of the most possible benefit to the individual. The menus for last Sunday and Monday were:

Breakfast	Melon	Bouillon
Bacon and eggs	Toast	Fresh berries
Coffee
Luncheon
Pickles	Creamed beef on toast
Bread and butter	Coffee
Dinner
Pickles	Melon	Olives
Fricassee chicken	Mashed potatoes
Fresh green peas	Biscuits
Spring salad
Orange ice	Cake
Coffee

LADIES AID GIVE BRIDGE LUNCHEON

The Music Box was the attractive setting for a very delightful luncheon given by the Ladies Aid of the Memorial church Wednesday afternoon. A profusion of garden flowers in tall baskets placed around the room, which was filled with small tables at which the guests were served, added gracefulness to the occasion.

Bridge and golf followed the luncheon. High and low scores for bridge were held by Mrs. Alger and Mrs. Pepper who are visiting at the reservation.

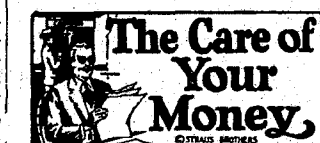

The following committees were responsible for the success of the luncheon: Mrs. H. A. Bauman, chairman; Mrs. Fred Welsh, assistant chairman; Mrs. C. R. Keyport, decorations; Mrs. Esbern Hanson, bridge; Mrs. A. J. Joseph, golf; Mrs. Olaf Michelson, Mrs. Herbert Wolff, Mrs. Carl Michelson and Mrs. Oscar Hanson, reception.

Inside Information

Get into the habit of closing up the sewing machine when you stop work for the day. A little dust can undo all your efforts at cleaning up your machine and making it run easily. Unnoticed dust also gets on light colored work, to its detriment.

Bread for sandwiches should be 24 hours old. It should be cut in thin slices, and preferably filled with a chopped filling. If the filling is soft and likely to soak through, butter both sides; otherwise the butter may sometimes be mixed with the filling and the spreading may be done in one operation. Cream the butter until soft enough to spread, but do not melt it as the flavor will be changed.

A pair of kitchen shears with sanitary white handles and strong, sharp blades is a useful tool. It can be used for chopping celery, apples and pickles for salad, also chicken and other meats; for cutting the heads and tails from fish; for cutting lettuce for shredded salads, bread for stuffing, marshmallows, dates and nuts, for desserts. Then there are all the ordinary uses for scissors—to cut paper for lining cake tins, twine on packages, shelf paper, and many other uses.

HOW TO SELECT A SECURITY

Just as the merchant must analyze the value of every product he buys, so must every investor be in a position to analyze and compare intelligently the various securities which are offered him.

What should one look for in a good bond? What are the characteristics of a good investment? According to an authority, Prof. Lawrence Chamberlain, they are:

1. Security of Principal
2. Stability of Income
3. Fair Income Return
4. Marketability
5. Value as Collateral
6. Tax Exemption
7. Exemption from Care
8. Acceptable Denomination
9. Acceptable Duration
10. Potential Appreciation

An investment that will measure up to each of these standards is well-nigh perfect. But no security has a maximum of every characteristic so listed.

Take the new Treasury 3 1/2's recently offered to the public. Even such a premier security does not check the full 10% in each of Chamberlain's features.

But it is not essential that all the characteristics be present in an equal degree in any one bond. It is logical that they should be. For example, absolute security of principal almost precludes the possibility of appreciation.

It is up to the investor to determine what his essential needs are and then seek the bond in which the qualities are most prominent which meet his requirements.

With the exception of the first two items on Chamberlain's list, all the other characteristics are open to consideration. Security of principal and stability of income are indispensable to the conservative investor. But fair income return, marketability, collateral value and the rest are requirements that can be determined only by the individual circumstances.

A man and a woman, a physician and a merchant, have different requirements. The investment suited to an active business man may be unsuitable for a retired business man. And so on through the various classes of bond buyers. It is a personal problem.

APPRECIATION

The Corwin Auto Sales wish to express their sincere appreciation to the local fire department, the citizens of Grayling, the State Police, and the soldiers from the military camp, for their able assistance rendered during the fire Wednesday night.

THE WAY THEY DO

"Say, Mabel, here comes two right nice-looking fellows. Are we going to flirt?"

"No, Gert, they don't look so good to me. Let's be indignant."

MADE FOR HER

He—Don't you think we were just made for each other?

She—Oh, I don't know. I've found a dozen fellows who were just made for me.

"Why, how's that? She looks like a mighty nice girl to me."

"Well, she works down the street in that hot-dog lunchroom."

SCIENTIST

At Yale he studied science. It may seem strange to you. That he learned so much of petting—Well—that's a science, too.

BENT ON MATRIMONY

"You think she'd be crooked in order to get married?"

"Yes—she's bent on matrimony."

JUST LIKE UP HERE

National Capital Avenue

The names of the states in the Union in 1792 were given to the avenues in the city of Washington. Afterward avenues without names were designated Tennessee, Ohio, Louisiana and Indiana.

Daily Thought

You find yourself refreshed by the presence of cheerful people; why not make earnest effort to confer that pleasure on others?—L. M. Child.

BOYS STATE FAIR SCHOOL

Organization of the 1800 alumni of the Boys State Fair School, numbering some of the most successful farmers in Michigan, will be undertaken at the eighth annual exposition of the Michigan State Fair, Sept. 1 to 7. The school, established 15 years ago as an agricultural educational proposition, is made up of county winners of an annual state-wide agricultural contest. Rehearsal of this year's students took place late in June.

The attempt in September will be the first to organize an alumni association. Invitations to attend are being sent to all former students. A huge tent will be pitched on the grounds to house the organization program. Annual meetings are planned.

The Boys State Fair School is a prominent educational feature of the State Fair. Entrants in the annual contest which determines its students are selected mainly for their knowledge of farming, though any boy of good eighth grade standing is eligible. The test, however, is such that no boy not carefully prepared can enter and have a fair chance of victory. Previous winners are barred. The examination in each county is under the supervision of the school commissioner. At the fair the boys, with all traveling and other expenses paid, are guests of the fair management. They are housed and fed on the grounds, and given an intensive agricultural course and daily physical exercises under qualified instructors. Admission to all entertainment at the fair is free and the boys are taken on motor trips around Detroit.

The interest in both agriculture and the state fair aroused by these contests and selections has been so great, fair officials report, that many of the boys have become annual visitors to the fair, which prompts the organization of an alumni association.

U. S. CLIMBS ON "MILK CART" INSTEAD OF ON "WATER WAGON"

Millions of people have come to realize that "milk is a wonderful juice" and instead of jumping on the "water wagon" since prohibition, they have leaped aboard the "milk cart." The stability of the cow is shown in a survey of the dairy situation, just completed by the Blue Valley Creamery Institute of Chicago.

The cow sticks to her job year after year, as the cow population census shows. This is in direct contrast to the human farm population, as the records show that in the past nine years there are 3,600,000 fewer people on farms and the present cow population is within about 5,000,000 of the human population on the farms of the country, the Institute points out. The number of cows keeps close to the 22,000,000 mark every year, while the human population on farms is now only 27,000,000 as compared to 31,000,000 in 1920.

DIPPING INTO SCIENCE

Center of Streams Swifter
Water along the sides of a stream is retarded constantly by rubbing against the banks. The water just a little farther out is retarded less because it touches only the slower moving water. So out in the middle of the stream the current is swiftest because water develops less friction from the adjoining water than it does from a stationary mass.

ST. MARY'S ACADEMY—TIMES TO THE MARCH OF PROGRESS.

Crowders are writing the final chapter in the life of old St. Mary's Academy, noted Canadian shrine being demolished to make room for the Detroit and Canada Tunnel.

For 66 years St. Mary's has been an important unit in the educational and religious life of the Border Cities. Now wreckers have attacked its old ivy-covered walls and sent them tumbling down in a mass of brick and mortar. In a few short weeks historic St. Mary's will be only a memory. But there are compensations.

Sixty-five years ago, when Vital Ouellette and his wife donated the land for the first building, the site was on the extreme outskirts of the straggling village of Windsor. Prodigious growth has come to the Border Cities since, growth so spectacular that this area is acclaimed as the most progressive in North America.

The site of St. Mary's now is in the heart of a bustling business center, much too busy and too valuable to justify its further use for educational purposes.

Thus quiet old St. Mary's is being torn down, doomed by the march of progress. In its stead will arise the towering portal of a great international vehicular tunnel and the various terminal structures needed for the administration of the project.

And St. Mary's itself is not to perish. Rather, the institution is to be preserved in even greater glory on a new site in South Windsor. There a $1,000,000 modern structure has been erected and thither will be removed many of the ancient effects of the older academy.

Among the many priceless relics being removed are a magnificent marble altar—one of the finest in Ontario, several religious paintings, the stained glass windows of the chapel and an antique clock which stages a parade of altar boys across the face every hour. The windows are outstanding among Canadian ecclesiastical shrines and long were a mecca for Border Cities visitors.

St. Mary's was founded by the Catholic citizens of Windsor in 1865, in a little brick cottage which still stands on Goyeau street there. A petition for help was addressed to the Sisters of the Holy Names of Jesus and Mary in Montreal and four teachers were sent.

In 1870 the first annex was built, an artistic affair circular in form. Further extension was made in 1904. In 1920 a kindergarten and science laboratories were built, followed four years later by the main annex, a pretentious four-story brick building which may be preserved intact from the wreckage for use by the Windsor Salvation Army. The Army desires to use the annex as a hotel for men if it proves feasible to move it intact from its present location to the new site available.

So far as is known, only two members of the original graduating class of 1868 survive. They are Mrs. Genevieve Langlois Drouillard, of Windsor, and Miss Catherine Fanning, of Cleveland, now Sister Gonzales of the mother home of the order of Outremont.

Location of the tunnel terminal on the St. Mary's site will bring the city halls of Detroit and Windsor within three minutes of each other, according to tunnel officials.

The American terminal for the tunnel is a few hundred feet from Detroit's financial and shopping districts and the Canadian terminal is even nearer to the vital centers.

The tunnel will be approximately a mile long, from portal to portal, with one half of its length under water. It will cost approximately $25,000,000 and is scheduled for completion late next year.

Trade Board Big Factor in Chicago's Progress

The jobs of 80,000 men and women are directly dependent on the existence of the Chicago Board of Trade; 100,000 are employed indirectly because of the "world's largest" commodity exchange. These figures indicate the important part the board has taken in building Chicago into the fifth city of the world and the financial and marketing center of the Middle West.

Early in 1848 a small group of influential leaders, engaged in pulling Chicago out of the mud that was old Fort Dearborn, organized the board of trade. Memberships in those days could be bought for a comparatively few dollars. Today the total value of memberships, at a conservative estimate, is $500,000,000.

In the old days, tolling wagonloads of wheat and corn arrived from across the prairies in Chicago and were promptly sold at the exchange. Long before the end of the board's eighty-first year, Chicago was the railroad center of the world and farm products moved to market in modern style. It is estimated that one-seventh of all the revenue of midwestern railroads now is derived from the transport of farm crops to market. A great part of their shipments go to Chicago for sale on the exchange.

Thinks He Has Special Reason for Complaint

The driver of a small car, parked in a crowded downtown section, stopped short and stared at the apparent nakedness of the machine. The spare tire was missing.

With a nonchalant shrug, he muttered something about "thieves will be thieves" and began to climb into the machine. But he stopped short again and stooped to pick up a wrench from the running board. His face grew crimson, and the things he said were terms not generally employed by frequenters of social teas.

"What's the trouble?" asked the stroller.

"A lot!" he snapped. "I don't mind these crooks stealing my tire, but when they open my car and take my tools to do it with, that's too much!" —Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Protect Guano Birds

Shipmasters carelessly blowing their foghorns, disturbing the guano birds nesting on the islands off the coast of Peru, are punished with a fine; and if it is discovered that their vessels approached within two miles of the islands, their boats are confiscated!

This new law was passed by the Peruvian government in a drastic campaign to protect the birds, which, as described in Popular Science Monthly, produce large quantities of guano, an excellent fertilizer. While guano is found in various places, the most valuable variety—containing from 13 to 14 per cent nitrogen and a like proportion of phosphoric acid—is exported from the Chincha and other islands near the Peruvian coast. These islands produce $1,000,000 worth of the fertilizer a year.

Come His Playthings

Many, varied, and strange are the belongings kept in safe deposits. During the recent visit to England of the ruler of a semi-independent Indian state, a score or more of gorgeously apparelled retainers visited the premises of one company every day to collect three heavy chests filled with cut and uncut precious stones. These were taken away for the dusky potentate to play with, and returned to the vaults when he tired of his daily amusement. The jewels were said to be worth over £10,000,000 and were probably the most valuable collection ever stored at one time.

Cable Insulation

One can hardly see any connection between hoop skirts and the electrical industry, but one may be traced, strangely enough, which took place in the early days of the electrical development. The first cables were not insulated satisfactorily till Walter T. Glover, an Englishman who braided steel hoops with cotton, had an inspiration. Ciraolines were going out, so was his business. So he used his machinery for insulating copper wire with cotton braid, and he soon had no cause to regret the passing of the crinoline.

Turkeys Bred by Aztecs

Although the earliest authentic record of the turkey refers to its introduction into Spain in 1524, a French writer says turkeys were first brought to France in 1518. When the Spaniards conquered Mexico they found semi-domesticated turkeys in the zoological parks of the Aztecs, he writes. Among the Pueblo Indians of the Southwest turkeys were raised before the coming of the Spaniards and these fowls had reached about the same degree of domestication that pigeons have today.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Konjola Routes Rheumatism and Catarrh Quickly

One Disease Held Sway for 15 Years And Other for 25; Former Sufferer Back On The Job

MR. JOE LAZARUS

"I can hardly believe I am the well man I am today," said Mr. Joe Lazarus, of Assyria Center, near Battle Creek, Michigan. "I suffered 25 years with catarrh and 15 years with rheumatism. My limbs, arms and shoulders were practically paralyzed. I was nearly deaf from the catarrh; my head roared and buzzed, and vomiting spells, because of mucus dropping into my throat, were frequent."

"Four bottles of Konjola drove the rheumatism away, and now the catarrhal condition has totally disappeared. I am feeling fine for the first time in 25 years. Konjola put me back on the job again."

Konjola is sold in Grayling at the Mac & Gidley drug store and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

REARRANGING THE FURNITURE

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

It is said of Thackeray, I believe, that when in his novels he once got his characters cast and definitely outlined, they seemed to get away from him, to determine their own behavior and procedure, and no matter how much he tried to manage them, they seemed to have wills of their own and a destiny to work out in spite of all the author's attempts to make them behave toward each other as he would have liked to have them.

I have sometimes felt that our furniture had something of these same human characteristics, and that when the various pieces were once settled in their respective corners of the house, no matter how determined we might be at times to bring about a rearrangement, the chairs and the tables and the settees, managed in a short time to drift back again each into its own familiar corner, as if they knew by a sort of wooden intuition the most appropriate place for each particular piece.

When Nancy and I first settled down to housekeeping we had few rooms to be furnished, and only the minimum amount of furniture to place in them. There was a sleeping room and a sitting room which seemed to me might at any time with advantage be completely changed about, the one becoming the other, but Nancy had her way as women are wont to do, and we proceeded to arrange out small bits of furniture. I was all the time thinking how much better it would be if the bedroom were used as a sitting room, and the sitting room as a bedroom.

We lived along for two or three months with things as they were, and then one evening Nancy was to be out for two or three hours, and I determined upon the rearrangement. Everything was to be changed, including the window curtains and the pictures on the wall. One of the fellows agreed to help me and we worked fast. Before Nancy got home the metamorphosis had been wrought. She was a little dazed when she first came in and looked around, and then together we looked the change over. I tried to think it was better, but it really wouldn't do at all. There wasn't a piece of furniture that wasn't lonesome for its old corner. The pieces stood out stiff and uncomfortable. There didn't seem to be an old friend anywhere. We couldn't stand the change a half hour, so we set to work, before we even went to bed, and moved everything back into its old place.

Adaptability to new work and new conditions is too infrequently found in people. Like the furniture, we look awkward and out of place when we are moved to a new position. Having once found a corner or a convenient wall space into which we seem to fit, it is often the wisest plan to stay there and to make the best of our position. The main thing is to find the proper corner, and then to let the furniture stay where it is put.

Don't Let Your Community Make the Same Mistake

Within recent years many communities have made the mistake of paving their roads and streets at what they considered a "bargain price." The taxpayers thought they would save thousands of dollars.

In many instances the maintenance has not only wiped out the hoped for saving, but has exceeded original cost. And in many cases also it has been necessary to build entirely new pavements—of permanent construction.

These are communities, however, which know the cheapest is not always the best. Many of these also built roads and streets several years ago. And they built for permanence with concrete.

These concrete pavements, built in accordance with approved standards of construction, are in as good condition today as when they were built.

Which of these communities will yours be?

A Crowning Indignity

"In the book of Matthew, we read 'They put on Him a general's short crimson cloak.' Such an act was the height of irony. They dressed the Prince of Peace in the trappings of a Roman general and knew that it would never fit the Master.

And yet the crucifixion goes on apace. In every age, we have been doing the same senseless thing. If we remember, during the last war, we heard the phrase—"Christ in khaki." And any man who saw anything of the actual fighting, knows that the Christ can never be put into khaki. Probably Dean Inge is right after all when he says, "The real gospel, if it were accepted, would pull up by the roots, not only militarism but its analogue in civil life, the desire to exploit other people for private gain. But it is not accepted. In fact, it would be very disturbing to most of us, if we were to strip away from the regal figure of Jesus everything foreign to Him, and let Him stand out unblinded and undisguised."

Miss Maxine Collins of the Vanity Box had the misfortune to sprain one of her ankles Tuesday afternoon, when she slipped off of the curb in front of the Burrows' market.

Capt. Lester Doer, Chaplain of the 126th Infantry will take Rev. Greenwood's place in the pulpit Sunday evening, July 21.
